The Biological and Medicinal Chemistry Sector (BMCS) of the Royal Society of Chemistry (RSC)

Mission	The BMCS aims to further the interests of all members of the RSC, both industrial and academic, involved in the pursuit and understanding of biologically active molecules. It also acts to promote public awareness of the crucial role played by chemistry in the modern industrial environment.

Activities

The Biological and Medicinal Chemistry Sector (BMCS) is an interest group of the Royal Society of Chemistry (RSC) in the UK. The annually elected committee is primarily responsible for the organisation of Scientific Meetings and Symposia, supporting educational activities in the UK, and advising the Society on policies that directly affect the BMCS. Specifically, the BMCS aims to further the interests of all members of the RSC, both industrial and academic, involved in the pursuit and understanding of biologically active molecules. The predominant areas thus include pharmaceuticals, agrochemicals, flavours and fragrances. It also acts to promote public awareness of the crucial role played by chemistry in the modern industrial environment. The BMCS is particularly active in the organisation of Scientific Meetings and does so in collaboration with a wide variety of other groups both within and external to the RSC. Over the past few years the BMCS has been especially active in promoting some of the important interfacial areas in which chemists are intimately involved. In recent years, it has held internationally attended meetings with groups including the EFMC, the Society for Chemical Industry, the Swedish Pharmaceutical Society and with the British Society of Parasitology. Up to 10 scientific meetings are held each year. Support for educational activities, such as the running of lectures and day schools, and the provision of equipment are also an important component of BMCS activities. Indeed, some of these initiatives are now established as annual events. The BMCS also administers biennial awards that acknowledge major scientific achievements in both academia and industry that have been carried out within the UK. The BMCS provides a significant input into Royal Society of Chemistry strategic initiatives.
